Small interest attaches to a decision handed down by the United States Supreme Court on December 19, in the case of the Southern Pacific v. United States. The court supports the lower court's decision that the Southern Pacific's cars, which are equipped with automatic coupling devices, are engaged in interstate commerce by impact, and that the cars standing empty on a siding are not engaged in interstate commerce. The court also holds that the cars, when engaged in interstate commerce, are subject to the federal safety laws.

Los Angeles Instructor Suggests That Teachers Be a Little Bad.
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 25.—The days of the "he-teacher" and the "she-teacher" are past, said President Frederick Burk in his address before the county teachers at Hawthorn's hall last week. "Men and women are what we need to take their places in the schools. The 'he-teacher' has been too self-sufficient and has lived apart from the remainder of the world and has made his profession uninviting. You never heard a boy say he was going to be a schoolmaster when he grew up. And the 'she-teacher'—oh, that 'she-teacher'! She's too good for this world—altogether too good." And then President Burk said: "Let's lead the simple, natural life of the world; add a few virtues. Why, they'll make you more human. Join all the clubs that will take you in, get out on the street and take an interest in things. In other words, lead the life of men."

DANGER IN HOLDING COTTON
Senator Bailey Has Sounded Alarm, Fearing a Glut Market.
AUSTIN, Tex., Dec. 25.—United States Senator J. W. Bailey is urging the farmers of the South to diversify their crops and bring about higher prices for their cotton. In a letter to Jot Gunter, a prominent planter and stockman of Texas, Senator Bailey advises against holding the staple in large quantities. He says, in part: "If the farmers in the South hold the cotton now in their hands for a higher price, they can force a higher price for their present holdings. But they cannot possibly force all they have on the market at the higher prices; and the result of an effort to do so will be simply that the surplus will be carried over to the next crop. That large surplus would not be a serious menace to a fair price for the next crop unless the next crop is a large one. It, however, would be a serious menace to a fair price for the next crop unless the next crop should be a large one and should meet an unusually large surplus carried over from the last crop, not only would the price of next year's crop fall probably as low as 5 cents, but the effect would extend through the next three or four years, and would thus cost the farmers of the South much more than they could possibly hope to make by holding the present crop, unless they take systematic steps to diversify their crops. The cotton crop will not be near so large as the present one."

SAVED HER SWEETHEART.
Senator Cullom Gets a Hearty Smack by Pretty Illinois Constituent.
WASHINGTON, Dec. 25.—Senator Cullom received a hearty kiss from a pretty girl in the room of the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations recently. The girl was Miss Minnie Swigert of Chicago, who had saved her sweetheart, John Pierce, who is a private in the hospital corps of the United States army. This money was deposited with the proper authorities. Pierce looked forward to his discharge in time to marry Miss Swigert during the holidays. He was, however, discharged on December 25, and he and his sweetheart were married on December 26. The girl's father, who is a wealthy merchant, had been told by Senator Cullom that his daughter was to be married to a man who was not worthy of her. The girl, however, had been told by Senator Cullom that her sweetheart was a brave soldier and a good man. She, therefore, decided to marry him.
